Features

Green's virtual private branch exchange (PBX) is a fully integrated, standardized telephone system from the cloud. It replaces mounted on-premises telephone systems and makes new investments in expensive telephone systems a thing of the past. Your Green PBX is a dedicated system operated in the cloud – just for you. It gives you the greatest possible flexibility and ensures that your specific telephony needs are covered.

Location-independent subscribers

Whether your employees are working from home, at a customer's site or are currently in the office no longer matters. Even call sequences can be set up across multiple sites.

Make calls from a computer

Our CTI clients (computer telephony integration) for Windows, Linux and Mac let you make calls directly from your computer. Our Apple and Android app lets you be reached through your business number anywhere in the world, and that at a fixed network rate from Switzerland.

Conference calls and video conferences

Invite your employees, customers or business partners to conference calls and video conferences. Counterparties need just a phone or web browser to participate. Show your presentation online or share a participant's screen. Without any additional licenses or fees.

Want to combine our vPBX with Teams from Office 365? No problem! We'd be happy to show you just how easily and intuitively these can be integrated.

Voice control

Use the integrated voice response (IVR) system to channel calls. Efficiently get callers connected to the right person.

Security

Define a maximum amount (cap limit) to protect yourself against hacker attacks or unpleasant surprises on your next phone bill.

Everything you need for making phone calls

Voicemail, music on hold and fax to mail. You can configure the telephone system to precisely meet your needs and then focus on your core business, as usual.
